Shreveport-Bossier Rescue Mission appoints new Executive Director

August 17, 2016

The Shreveport-Bossier Rescue Mission is pleased to announce the appointment of Pastor Larry Otwell as Executive Director. In 2015, Pastor Larry joined the Shreveport-Bossier Rescue Mission as General Manager and was appointed as Executive Director in June 2016. Prior to coming to the Rescue Mission, Pastor Larry was the owner of Cornerstone Disposal Service. He currently serves as the Street Pastor at Riverpark Church.

For over 28 years, the Rescue Mission has been under the leadership of Rev. R. Henry Martin. During his tenure as Executive Director, the Mission grew from a small men's shelter on Texas Avenue to its current shelter for men, women and children on McNeil Street.

"Larry does an outstanding job of looking at the big picture... in bringing the business side and the spiritual outreach piece of the mission together to form a cohesive unit that is able to stand on its own" says Chad Erie, Chairman of the Mission Board of Directors. Under Pastor Larry's leadership, the Mission has unveiled a new Life Recovery Program that will help men and women recover their identity and break the cycle of poverty. More information on the Life Recovery Program can be found at <http://www.sbrescuemission.com/programs/liferecoveryprogram/>.

Defending the Faith - Linking Culture with Truth

Understanding Islam (Part IV) Overcoming obstacles between Islam and Christianity by Stephen R. Patton, M.D.

As a medical intern in the 1970's, I was frequently called to the ER to see a patient with bleeding stomach ulcers. Such patients often went to the ICU in shock. If the bleeding didn't stop, surgical removal of their stomachs was required. Sometimes they died. I was taught that ulcers were caused by excess stomach acid or breakdown of the "gastric-acid barrier". "Once an ulcer, always an ulcer", was a common saying. These patients were told to reduce stress so their ulcers could heal. These ideas turned out to be myths.

In the early 1980's, an Australian internist, Barry Marshall, and pathologist, Robin Warren, discovered that the bacterium, Helicobacter Pylori, could be cultured from the stomachs of ulcer victims. They published their conclusion that this bacterium caused ulcers. The medical community responded with ridicule. When Dr. Marshall drank a broth of H. Pylori bacterium and gave himself an ulcer, the medical world began to see the light. Now we treat ulcers with simple antibiotics! Some ideas die hard even when the evidence is in plain sight.

In the book, Encountering the World of Islam, Patrick O. Cate explains that the gospel can be gently communicated to Muslims by logically reasoning through evidence they already accept and value, instead of confronting with ideas they automatically reject. Muslims rightly believe in one God but have an incomplete view of Him and think Christians blasphemously worship three gods. Muslims revere the Injeel (Arabic word for New Testament) but wrongly believe Christians have changed it. They highly regard Jesus as a great prophet but reject his crucifixion and deity. They repel the notion of Jesus as the Son of God because to them this means God had sexual relations with Mary.

Regarding the Trinity, Cate points out that all Muslims embrace the idea "that the Qur'an is the uncreated speech of God existing in the mind of God from eternity past." When they are brought to realize these represent two uncreated but eternal things (Allah and the Qur'an), but only one God, they may rethink the Trinity as three eternal things (three persons) but one

God.

Also in Encountering the World of Islam, Del Kingsriter discusses the Muslim belief that the Injeel has been altered and corrupted. He points out, "Muhammad firmly believed in the authenticity of the Bible as it existed in his day. There are many verses in the Qur'an which demonstrate his confidence." (Suras 5:68, 21:7, 6:115, 10:64, Yusuf Ali). When Muhammad lived (7th century), the New Testament had already been circulated for centuries with the oldest complete copy, Codex Vaticanus, dating to 300 A.D., which still exists today. Thousands of lectionaries and individual books of the New Testament remain intact today and date from 100 A.D. The Bible reads the same now as it did then. Since Muhammad instructed his followers to read the Injeel, a dilemma exists for Muslims today; if the New Testament was corrupted before Muhammad's time, why did he believe it and instruct his followers to read it? If it was corrupted after Muhammad died, why does my Bible read the same as the earliest ancient scriptures? In short, God's word hasn't changed. Furthermore, the Bible says, "Heaven and earth will pass away but my words will never pass away." (Matt. 24:35).

The concepts of the fatherhood of God and the sonship of Jesus are also stumbling blocks to Muslims. They take such expressions literally promoting the incorrect idea that God had carnal relations with Mary. Patrick O. Cate says that it is important to point out to Muslim friends that Christians are equally repelled by such a literal interpretation. The New Testament means this in a spiritual and metaphorical way, not literally, biologically or physically. As a counter example, Arabic language would use the phrase, "Ibn is sabil," to mean "son of the road", a metaphor for a traveler or wanderer. In the US we would say George Washington is the father of our country but not in a literal, biological or physical way but in a metaphorical way. So we can tell them "Jesus, the Son of God", is a spiritual, metaphorical expression about our Savior.

The truth about the Bible, the Trinity, sin, the deity of Jesus and His saving sacrifice through God's grace is right in front of Muslims everywhere. Their incomplete views and misunderstandings are difficult to overcome much like previous ideas about ulcers were difficult to cast off. Old ways are difficult to change. The truth of the gospel needs dedicated believers to gently and persistently redirect Muslims to the truth in terms they already hold dear until they can see the Light.

Rio's Best Kept Secret

By: Eric Metaxas

Published: August 22, 2016 6:00 AM ...breakpoint.org

Despite the media's wall-to-wall Olympic coverage, you've likely not heard the best story of all.

We've all heard the story of Eric Liddell, who turned down an opportunity for Olympic gold at the Paris Games in 1924 in order to honor His Savior. It was Liddell who famously said, "God made me fast. And when I run, I feel His pleasure."

Well, this summer in Rio de Janeiro, there's been a whole lot of running, jumping, swimming, and competing by athletes seeking to honor Jesus Christ. Not that you've heard much about it from the "mainstream" media. I spoke about this media blackout with my friend Terry Mattingly, who's one of today's foremost religion journalists. Terry told me, "If these athletes make faith a part of their story, how do you leave out faith when telling their story?" Come to BreakPoint.org for a link to the podcast.

Now, I've already told you the story of super-swimmer Michael Phelps, who reached the pinnacle of sports and found it hollow—and then contemplated suicide. But Phelps found a reason to live when Ray Lewis gave him a copy of "The Purpose-Driven Life," by Rick Warren. Michael's story reminds us of the role that God's people have as bringers of hope and agents of restoration.

There have been many such reminders in Rio. Fiji dominated Great Britain, 43-7 in rugby, earning the island country's first-ever gold medal. Then the winning players huddled and sang, both in English and Fijian: "We have overcome / We have overcome / By the blood of the Lamb / And the Word of the Lord / We have overcome." Then they received their medals humbly—on their knees!

In the women's 10,000 meters race, Almaz Ayana, from Ethiopia, obliterated the previous world record by 14 seconds. Responding to unfounded rumors about cheating, Almaz retorted, "My doping is my training and my doping is Jesus. Nothing otherwise—I am crystal clear."

American swimmer Simone Manuel set an Olympic record in the 100-meter freestyle, becoming the first African-American woman to win gold as a swimmer, the first African-American woman to win a medal in an individual swimming event, and the first American to win the 100-meter since 1984. After the race she said, with tears rolling down her cheeks, "All I can say is all glory to God."

Then there's another inspiring Olympian named Simone—Simone Biles, acknowledged to be the world's greatest female gymnast—and perhaps the best ever. But what's truly inspiring is her story—adopted at age 6 by her grandparents because of her mother's battle with addiction. Now reconciled with her mom, Simone draws strength from her relationship with God and her faith.

Katie Ledecky, who may become the greatest woman swimmer of all time—and who won the 800-meter freestyle by an amazing 11 seconds—says her faith in Christ "is part of who I am."

I could go on and on in this Olympic hall of faith, but I'll leave you with just one more. Champion diver David Boudia says he's well aware of the need to represent Christ with integrity, saying, "If I represent a good God, I need to be that visual representation of him all the time, not just when I feel like it." David tells his amazing and inspiring story from despair to discipleship in his book, "Greater Than Gold: From Olympic Heartbreak to Ultimate Redemption."

It's great to see these "bringers of hope and agents of restoration" compete for the glory of God. But we'd miss the point if all we do is applaud them and then turn off our TVs. We are called to compete for Christ, too. As Eric Liddell also said, "It has been a wonderful experience to compete in the Olympic Games and to bring home a gold medal. But ... I have had my eyes on a different prize. ... Each one of us is in a greater race than any I have run in Paris, and this race ends when God gives out the medals." Amen. Now that is a story worth repeating!

FEBC Korea Baptizes nearly 5,000 Korean Soldiers

News excerpts from FEBC and NRB

South Korea witnessed its largest-ever mass baptism August 6, 2016, when 4,946 Korean soldiers gathered at the Korea Army Training Center (KATC) in Nonsan, for a baptism service and ceremony organized by FEBC Korea in celebration of its 60th anniversary.

More than 20 U.S. pastors were invited to participate in the baptism, including Ed Cannon, President and CEO of Far East Broadcasters Company-U.S., Dr. Jerry Johnson, President and CEO of the National Religious Broadcasters, and the Rev. Chad Hammond, Director of Asian Affairs at the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

"When you become a Christian, your life changes," Dr. Johnson explained to the soldiers assembled in the Yeonmu-kwan Auditorium for the baptism service. "You're showing today that you're dying to an old way of life, and you're living a new kind of life."

"What a wonderful experience it was today to see so many young believers in Christ through the ministry of the military and FEBC Korea," commented Cannon.

"It was a powerful symbol, like in the Bible, in the book of Acts, on the day of Pentecost. And it's a sign that God is working in Korea and God is moving in Korea," noted Dr. Johnson, who said he was honored to be there for the occasion.

Dr. Billy Kim, Chairman of the Board of FEBC-Korea, organized the baptism to "plant the seed of Christ's love in our young soldiers."

- U.S. CONSTITUTION, Article II, Section 2, Clause 2

The Critical Issue of Supreme Court Justices

By: State Rep. Mike Johnson

Elections always have consequences, but the presidential election this fall may be the most consequential in our nation's history. America is at a crossroads, and we must decide which direction we will turn. One side proposes a path towards socialism, radical liberalism and the loss of our freedoms—and another has vowed to return to the conservative, constitutional principles that made our nation the greatest on the planet. The stakes could not be any higher.

Of all the critical issues before us, it seems everyone agrees the appointment of federal judges is perhaps the most immediate and important. The issue is immediate because we already have one glaring vacancy on the U.S. Supreme Court following the death of conservative Justice Antonin Scalia, and others are soon to follow. Consider that on Election Day, Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, who has been in poor health, will be 83 years old, and Justice Anthony Kennedy will be 80.

And this one:

"My Vote Doesn't Count."

In this century, every U.S. presidential election has been won by a popular vote margin that is less than the number of registered Christians who did not vote. So you see, your vote DOES count.

What's more, your positive attitude and influence toward the important responsibility of voting will spread to your family, church members, co-workers and friends. In essence, you can impact the world around you!

When answering the eternal question, "What's the proper role of every Christian?" Prison Fellowship Founder Chuck Colson said it best:

"Christians have a duty to be engaged in the political process. The very least we should be doing is voting. We should be the best of citizens. We should bring the values of the kingdom of God to bear in the kingdom of man."

Focus on the Family is here to help you do just that — "be the best of citizens" and bring God's values to mankind — with a number of great resources available on our Commit2Vote2016.com website. Please continue to explore this site, and then go forth and encourage someone to vote today!

Are you sure you're registered to vote? Have you moved lately or changed your name?
If you are not registered,
you can't vote.

The issue is vitally important because the balance on the Court was altered with the passing of Justice Scalia, and only a few of the remaining justices have shown they are reliable constitutionalists. Ginsburg is a liberal activist and Kennedy has been an inconsistent jurist, often siding with the liberals.

In recent years, it has become common for landmark decisions to be decided by a vote of 5 to 4. Obergefell v. Hodges, for example, legalized same-sex marriage nationwide by just one vote, and NFIB v. Sebelius narrowly upheld the lynchpin provision of Obamacare that mandates the purchase of health insurance. On the conservative side, we preserved the right to continue using the name of Jesus in public prayers by just one vote (Town of Greece v. Galloway), protected family-owned businesses from having to violate their consciences to provide abortion coverage in their health insurance plans by one vote (Burwell v. Hobby Lobby), and affirmed that the Second Amendment still applies to the states (McDonald v. Chicago).

Clearly, the constitutional authority of the president to nominate and appoint judges to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court and the lower federal courts is a tremendous responsibility and can be the longest lasting legacy of any administration. Whoever wins in November will likely be given the opportunity to fill at least two, and maybe as many as four or five, of the critical Supreme Court seats. Whether these are liberal judicial activists or faithful adherents to the Constitution is actually up to all of us. Only by electing a president who shares our commitment can we ensure the direction and future of the Court. This November, vote like your freedom depends on it. Because it does.

The biblical solution to health care costs

Democratic and Republican Party Platforms: Where They Stand on the Issues

By BGEA

As Franklin Graham travels to all 50 states on the Decision America Tour, he's urging Christians to boldly live out their faith—at home, in public and at the ballot box.

Many decisions are made at the president's desk, but the major political party to which he or she belongs wields significant power over which domestic and international policies are advanced and what becomes law. Here is a summary of the Democratic and Republican party positions on some of the vital issues facing the country. As Franklin Graham has stated clearly many times, we are not endorsing any candidate or party.

Sanctity of human life

Democratic

Democrats seek to repeal the 1976 Hyde Amendment so that federal funds can be used to pay for abortions. The platform says, "We will continue to stand up to Republican efforts to defund Planned Parenthood health centers." Democrats support ratification of UN efforts that affirm "the reproductive rights of women" globally.

Republican

The GOP asserts the sanctity of human life and affirms, "The unborn child has a fundamental right to life which cannot be infringed." The party supports a Human Life Amendment making clear that the 14th Amendment's protections apply to children before birth, and it salutes states that require informed consent, parental consent, waiting periods and clinic regulation.

Marriage

Democratic

Democrats applaud last year's Supreme Court ruling that "LGBT people—like other Americans—have the right to marry the person they love."

Republican

The GOP platform condemns the Supreme Court's rulings that removed the ability of Congress and the people to define marriage as the union of one man and one woman. The GOP urges the reversal of those decisions, whether through judicial reconsideration or a constitutional amendment.

Religious freedom

Democratic

The Democratic platform says: "We support a progressive vision of religious freedom that respects pluralism and rejects the misuse of religion to discriminate." The party opposes a religious test to bar immigrants or refugees from entering the country.

Republican

Republicans affirm that religious freedom in the Bill of Rights protects the right of the people to practice their faith in their everyday lives. The platform endorses the First Amendment Defense Act, which would protect faith-based institutions and individuals from government discrimination.

Federal judges

Democratic

The platform says: "We will appoint judges who defend the constitutional principles of liberty and equality for all, and will protect a woman's right to safe and legal abortion."

Republican

The GOP platform states: "A critical threat to our country's constitutional order is an activist judiciary that usurps powers properly reserved to the people through other branches of government." The GOP supports the appointment of justices and judges who respect the constitutional limits on their power and respect the authority of the states.

National defense

Democratic

The Democratic platform says that while the military is crucial, decreased military spending is necessary. The party also favors reducing excessive spending on nuclear weapons. The platform notes that it is "proud of the repeal of Don't Ask Don't Tell and the opening of combat positions to women."

Republican

The Republican platform favors building and maintaining a strong military as the path to peace and security. The party seeks to restore the nation's military might and to rebuild troop numbers. The GOP would abandon treaties that benefit adversaries and would modernize the U.S. nuclear arsenal.

Terrorism

Democratic

The Democratic platform uses firm language to say we "must defeat" global terrorism, though noting a preference for "diplomacy and development, to confront global threats and ensure war is a last resort." The party favors improving international intelligence capabilities to defend against external and homegrown threats.

Republican

The GOP asserts that the Iran deal does not have treaty status and has only emboldened the regime in Tehran in sponsoring terrorism. The platform says, "We must stand up for our friends, challenge our foes, and destroy ISIS." It calls for governmental aid to Christian communities under genocidal attack in cities like Erbil.

Human rights

Democratic

The Democratic platform recognizes gay rights as a human right, and party leaders have tied international development funds in poor countries to adherence to the LGBT agenda. According to the platform, "We will continue to stand with LGBT people around the world, including fighting efforts by any nation to infringe on LGBT rights or ignore abuse."

Republican

The GOP platform states: "To those who stand in the darkness of tyranny, America has always been a beacon of hope, and so it must remain." The party seeks a radical rethinking of our human rights diplomacy, adopting a "whole of government" approach in which human rights issues are integrated at every appropriate level of our relationships with other nations.

Immigration

Democratic

The party platform denounces Donald Trump's suggested ban on immigrants from countries (mostly Muslim) known to train and equip terrorists.

Republican

Republicans oppose any form of amnesty for those who have entered illegally. The party supports building a border wall and refusing entrance to refugees who cannot be carefully vetted, especially those whose homelands have "been the breeding grounds for terrorism."

Internet safety and decency

Democratic

The platform supports "a free and open internet at home and abroad." The party would seek to strengthen cybersecurity while "protecting the privacy and civil liberties of the American people."

Republican

The platform states: "The internet must not become a safe haven for predators. Pornography, with its harmful effects, especially on children, has become a public health crisis that is destroying the lives of millions."

Addressing poverty

Democratic

Democrats will "direct more federal resources to lifting up communities that have been left out and left behind." The party would build more affordable rental housing units and seek to "create good-paying jobs and enhance opportunities by investing in small business, youth employment, and reentry programs for formerly incarcerated people."

Republican

The GOP says that instead of government handouts that keep people dependent, "We propose ... the dynamic compassion of work requirements in a growing economy, where opportunity takes the place of a hand-out, where true self-esteem can grow from the satisfaction of a job well done."

Law and order

Democratic

The Democratic platform seeks to abolish the death penalty, "which has proven to be a cruel and unusual form of punishment. It has no place in the United States of America." The party would reform mandatory minimum sentences, close private prisons, end racial profiling and train officers in de-escalation.

Republican

The GOP decries the creation of new "crimes" by unelected civil servants and political appointees and sees this as federal overreach. The platform emphasizes restorative justice, including guidance by faith-based institutions. It notes that the death penalty is firmly settled by the Fifth Amendment and opposes efforts to erode this right.

Israel and Jerusalem

Democratic

The platform states: "We will always support Israel's right to defend itself, including by retaining its qualitative military edge, and oppose any effort to delegitimize Israel. ... While Jerusalem is a matter for final status negotiations, it should remain the capital of Israel, an undivided city accessible to people of all faiths."

Republican

Republicans express "unequivocal support for Israel," pointing out that it is the only Middle Eastern country with freedom of speech and freedom of religion. The GOP recognizes "Jerusalem as the eternal and indivisible capital of the Jewish state." The party opposes the U.N.'s treatment of Israel as a pariah state.

ACTION ALERT

August 23, 2016

Dear Friend,

Yesterday, a federal judge blocked Obama administration “guidelines” that would force schools to allow some biological males to use girls’ showers, locker rooms, and restrooms (and vice versa). The order, by Judge Reed O’Connor of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, applies not just in Texas, but nationwide! Coming on the heels of the Supreme Court temporarily preventing a similar policy from going into effect in Virginia, this ruling is a rebuke to the Obama administration’s aggressive attempts to force its radical gender ideology on the nation’s children.

As you may know, on May 13, 2016, the Departments of Justice and Education sent a “Dear Colleague” letter to every public school district in the country. In it, they asserted that a 1972 law banning discrimination in education based on “sex” also bans it based on “gender identity” (a person’s subjective feeling that they are male or female), and that requiring students to use facilities that correspond to their biological sex at birth (rather than “gender identity”) violates the law. Schools considered to be in violation of this law (known as “Title IX”) are subject to a cut-off of all federal funding assistance.

Judge O’Connor found that the administration used an illegal procedure to adopt its guidelines, and ruled that the existing law and regulation are “not ambiguous” in defining “sex” as a reference to one’s biological sex at birth, rather than self-professed “gender identity.”

Now, state and local officials nationwide can feel vindicated in their resistance to the administration’s unlawful action. Along with the Supreme Court’s stay of the Virginia ruling, this decision gives them encouragement that it is not they who are acting without proper authority in this matter -- but the Obama administration.

Please contact your school superintendents, school board members, and other state and local education officials and urge them: 1) to continue to separate showers, locker rooms, and bathrooms on the basis of biological sex at birth; and 2) to ignore the illegal and coercive “guidance” offered by the Department of Education on this subject. Standing (Eph. 6:13),

Getting Involved in Flood Relief

Many churches and ministries here have already delivered goods and services to those affected by the recent flooding in our state. If you've not pitched in to help and would like to, here are some more opportunities that we know of.

First Baptist Bossier - Those interested in partnering with us can do so in the following ways:

Salvation Army Also Hit by the Flooding

Thirty inches of rain fell in Southern Louisiana and parts of Mississippi, leading to historic flooding specifically in and around Baton Rouge and Lafayette, Louisiana as well as Tangipahoa Parrish between McComb, Mississippi and Hammond, Louisiana.

Along with the thousands of homes and families impacted by the flood waters, The Salvation Army's Baton Rouge Corps has also been flooded. While the second floor is ok, the first floor is severely damaged. This includes the administration offices, Family Store, current shelter, the long term rehabilitation program shelter, plus the new men's shelter that was nearing completion.

A donation/distribution center has been established at the Cortana Mall in Baton Rouge inside the old Mervyn's wing, located at 9401 Cortana Place in Baton Rouge. The effort here has been aided by thousands of donations from across the South and nations. Hundreds of volunteers are helping to load water, food boxes, hygiene kits and cleaning supplies into vehicles as residents in need come by the distribution center.

Here's a list of items we currently need in our warehouse to distribute to those in need:

Sports drinks, mops, brooms, masks, gloves, paper towels, garbage bags, cleaning supplies, hygiene items, (soap, deodorant, toilet paper, tooth paste, tooth brushes, baby items (diapers, formula, baby powder, bottles, pacifiers, etc.)

Please note: Used clothing and used furnishings are not needed for disaster relief.

Cash Contributions Encouraged

Donors are encouraged to contribute cash. In-kind donations require sorting, boxing, palletizing, storage, and delivery to the disaster location. All of these activities can be costly and time consuming, and therefore may delay service delivery. Cash donations allow The Salvation Army to purchase products quickly and efficiently meet the most urgent needs of disaster victims. When possible, the purchases are made near the disaster site to stimulate the local economy and ensure quicker delivery. It is easy to give to The Salvation Army:

Mercy Chefs

Faith-based nonprofit Mercy Chefs was among the first national charities on the ground. Its professional chef-volunteers have been preparing about 9,000 meals every day in mobile kitchens.

"We got here just as quickly as we could get through the barricades and the roadblocks and the high water and started serving food immediately upon arrival," said Mercy Chefs founder Gary LeBlanc."

"Wednesday, I began to walk down the line of cars waiting for a meal to talk and pray with folks. I got to the fifth car and had to stop. My spirit was weak.

The first car I came to had a family inside, who waded out through the flood waters and borrowed a vehicle just to get to us for a meal. All they were able to salvage from their home was a pile of clothing, which was still wet in the back seat. They were on their way to the laundromat in hopes of changing for the first time in days.

In the next car was a lady in her fifties. I asked how she was doing. She burst into tears and said, "I cannot even speak." She just cried and shook as I prayed for her. All she was able to tell me was, "I went through this in Hurricane Katrina ten years ago."

As I continued down the line, each car had someone hurting so deeply that tears rolled down their face as I prayed with them. It didn't take long before I broke down and could go no further. We gathered a handful of pastors from the church and had them go down the line, one by one, to pray with each person as they waited for their meal.

These are the people we are feeding here in Louisiana. Tired, broken and hurting men, women and children, whose lives have been turned upside down overnight. Everyone is still in survival mode right now. They are just doing their best to hold on and make it through, one day at a time.

Please join us in prayer for every person affected by this terrible flood. This really is THE WORST disaster I have seen in years."
